RELATIONSHIP

RELATIONSHIP! What you think about the relationship from God's perspective? I believe it is the highly respected love-bond PLACE for all kinds of God's blessings! God knew very well that man can only receive His blessings in His relationship through the shed-blood of His beloved Son Jesus Christ!

God brought us into His wonderful relationship and desired the same beautiful love-bond relationship with each other so that He can dwell among us and make us His blessings for others. God has called imperfect people together in His relationship and with each others!

In fact God brings us into relationship with a purpose. The beauty of the relationship is two different kinds of people come together in UNITY. Psalm 133 is the perfect picture of that.

In long relationship we know one thing most of us is each other's faults. And then we got to get differences then we start blaming each other. It is always easy to blame others and it is simple to pick up another person's faults. It is difficult to look into our own heart and realize that we are on the wrong road. If we are not careful enough then that takes us to permanent break.

Everyone has faults. No one is perfect. There are so many perfectionist around us who want to push us into bondage discouraged and depressed. Do not give them place. Blaming other party in any relationship is very dangerous. Know that one who takes initiative to blame others his spiritual growth stops he becomes hard hearted. What happens to the one who is being blamed? He develops the feelings of dishonored and disrespected. And at this place prayer is not heart!

By blaming others and looking down on them we cannot change them. When we walk in the light with the Lord we automatically walk in the light with each other. There is wonderful help of God is available for us to restore our broken relationship.

We should walk in grace with each other, which is the unmerited favor.. We should forgive others because forgiveness is an expression of unconditional love. And the most important thing is we should encourage each other to do right thing out of love and not condemnation. By walking in unconditional love you can have beautiful long lasting relationship and bring honor and glory to God's name!!

May our good Lord continue to bless you and may you walk in His grace, unconditional love and humble accountability!
